Gifted: A Love Story (A Redeeming Romance Medical Mystery)

Synopsis

Will following her heart mean denying her dreams? In this Christian Medical Mystery, a gifted young neurologist, Lily Lapree, embarks upon her residency in the teaching hospital where her late father practiced. Longing to try her wings outside the insular nest, the position hadn't exactly been Lily's top choice, but the hometown hospital has its perks. Best of all, they'll help mainstream her live-in sister, Raina, who has special needs. In response to Lily's promise to keep tabs, they'll add "Rainy" to their janitorial staff. Though legally an adult, Raina is still childlike as she starts her first job within the wing unofficially known as the Belfry. Back-to-back revelations have Lily reeling on Rainy's first day. For starters, a late-breaking offer comes in for Lily from that far more prestigious, first-choice hospital. Next, Lily discovers their widowed mother, hospital counsel Claire Lapree, plans to remarry come Easter. Still grieving the father she adored, Lily is hardly ready for her mom to move on--much less with her boss, the chief of neurosurgery. Top it off with Lily's struggle to fend off the pursuits of her best friend's unrequited crush -- an unsettlingly attractive fellow resident--and it doesn't look like family dynamics or workplace relationships could get much more complicated. All the while, Lily wrestles to understand the mind of an enigmatic new patient, a boy plagued with disturbing visions he claims are from God. Though Lily's mother implores her to stand by her initial commitment at the Belfry, Lily can hardly ignore what the world-class, out-of-state hospital has to offer. Would it be so wrong for Lily to accept the job she's always dreamed of, the one her beloved father had always wanted for her? It's a seemingly impossible choice. Torn between obligation, guilt, aspirations, and romance, Lily embarks on a journey to unlock the mysteries of her own heart and soul. With life so consumed with work and family, will Lily's choice lead to finding love and romance? My favorite female author Susan Rohrer has done it again with her latest release â œGIFTED: a love storyâ • (A Redeeming Romance Medical Mystery). As a man who only reads non-fiction books on Theology and related topics, reading a fictional romance may seem out of sync, but it actually is not as Ms. Rohrerâ™s books always inspire and come with more than one message and even sub-themes! I found this the case with â œGIFTEDâ • and the first thing to recommend is this â “ do NOT try to read this book or to attempt to get into the story while doing a dozen other things. This is the sort of narrative that lends itself to lifting up, addressing and even edifying those who seek to understand the human condition, and should be read during extended periods of time. The authorâ™s description of the book speaks for itself, but a few things stood out to me that men would do well to grab a hold of, and meditate on for a while. What I like about reading Ms. Rohrerâ™s books is her ability to present several facets of human personality, and I encourage men of all ages, especially working fathers, to take a look at this offering â “ even if it is only for the two things which come later on in the book â “ towards the end. One thing is something that we men struggle with as fathers in our busy lives. We attempt to juggle work, kidsâ™ baseball games, plays and other family activities. Sometimes we cannot (some do) find the balance between earning that one extra dollar which may pay for this or that for the kids, and being there. Lily asked a question of her mom that should cause every responsible man to shiver a little. As our "GIFTED" heroine, Dr.
